CPS Information

The data in the chart below show the percentage of unaccepted referrals out of all calls that Intake enters into SAFE. Calls entered into SAFE are categorized as accepted, unaccepted, reversal to unaccepted, additional information and information only. Referrals coded as additional information or information only are not included in the total number of referrals. Reversal to unaccepted and unaccepted referrals are both counted for the total number of unaccepted referrals. Before determination of an unaccepted referral is made, policy and procedures are followed, including staffing the decision and documentation of the decision and required actions. This report pulls information based on system entry date.

This chart shows the number of new CPS investigations received during the quarter based on the start date of the cases.

Child Maltreatment 2006 (federal report based on National Child Abuse and Neglect Data Systems data for 50 states) reports that for 28.6% of investigated reports, at least one child was found to be a victim of maltreatment with dispositions of supported, indicated, or alternative response victim. Utah's data below show a higher average supported rate than the national. There is a lot of state variability on what is accepted for investigation, and how abuse or neglect is defined. Utah's inclusion of domestic violence related child, out-of-home perpetrator abuse, and investigations of environmental neglect may contribute to the higher supported rate.

Allegation types and definitions can be found in DCFS practice guidelines on the DCFS website. They have been grouped into main categories below. The most prevalent supported allegation type is Domestic Violence Related Child Abuse. The Other Category consists of allegations of dependency, failure to protect, safe relinquishment of a newborn child, and child endangerment. Note that because children may be victims of more than one type of abuse the percents add to more than 100%.

Percent of Supported Allegation Types FY08 4th Qtr

The chart below show the percentage of substantiated victims receiving ongoing out-of-home DCFS custody from the Division of Child and Family Services within 30 days of CPS case closure.

The chart below shows the percentage of substantiated victims receiving ongoing home-based services from the Division of Child and Family Services within 30 days of CPS case closure. Home-based services include Protective Services Supervision (PSS), Protective Services Counseling (PSC), Protective Family Preservation (PFP), Protective Supervision Interstate (PSI), Clinical Counseling Services (CCS), and Counseling Individual Services (CIS). Clients who did not receive subsequent DCFS services may have been referred to community-based agencies.

Domestic Violence

The chart below shows the number of clients served in domestic violence shelters statewide.

DCFS modified the case primary reason values in April 2007 to differentiate between types of DVS cases. The “Other” category below are those cases that do not yet have one of the newer primary reason values. The data unit and the DV program area manager have been working with the regions to update all of these values on older cases.

Foster Care Information

The chart below shows the number of open SCF cases on the last day of each quarter by Region. The number of children receiving foster care services has remained fairly stable during the last year.

Data on goals and average months in care are included below. Data on closed cases are provided to examine length of time to exit. Data on open cases on the next page are included to examine differences between exit cohorts and children who remain in care, in other words, to determine if there is a population who is remaining in care for long periods of time that are not reflected in the exit cohort information. A blank indicates there were no exits with that goal in the quarter.
